FOR DISORDERS IN THE STOMACH, STONE, GRAVEL, and BILIOUS COMPLAINTS.

THE ALKALINE AERATED WATER is particularly recommended by the most eminent physicians and surgeons of London and Edinburgh, as the most efficacious and safe remedy hitherto discovered for the above complaints.

It has been found from happy experience to dissolve sand or gravel in the kidneys, and by destroying acidity in the stomach, it materially assists digestion, and keeps the bowels regular.

Independent of its medicinal virtues, the Alkaline or Soda Water makes an elegant and pleasant beverage for the table, either alone or with wine. However, it is necessary to observe, that not only the utility, but even the safety of the Soda Water depends on its being fully impregnated with Fixed Air; this circumstance has induced R. SCOTT, Apothecary, to pay particular attention to the preparation of this agreeable medicine, and he takes this opportunity of informing his friends and the public, that it may be had at

His Shop, No. 8, South Bridge Street, Edinburgh, In the highest perfection, in pint bottles, at 6s. per dozen.

SALE OF LANDS IN STIRLINGSHIRE AND PERTHSHIRE. To be SOLD, by public roup, within the Royal Exchange Coffee-house, Edinburgh, upon Wednesday the 17th of July next, at 7 o'clock afternoon.

LOT I. ALL and Whole the LANDS of CARSE-LINGS, with the pertinents, lying in the parishes of St Ninians and Dunipace, and shire of Stirling.

These lands consist of 230 Scotch or 275 English acres, entirely arable, excepting about 40 acres under natural grass, or thriving plantations, all inclosed and subdivided with stone dykes, or ditch and hedge, in good order. The soil is of excellent quality, chiefly carse clay, but partly a dry loam.

The whole grounds are at present in the natural possession of the proprietor, and in the most improved state of cultivation. About 140 acres have, within the last four years, been summer fallowed, dunged, and limed in the most complete manner. There are about 30 acres of Haugh land, so rich as to produce a succession of fine crops, without manure.

The situation of the lands is exceedingly beautiful, being sheltered by the Torwood, and watered by the Torwood burn. This situation is likewise uncommonly favourable, both for markets and the means of improvement, being within 29 miles of Edinburgh, 24 miles of Glasgow, and upon the great road, nearly half way betwixt Falkirk and Stirling, in the immediate vicinity of large cattle markets, and in the midst of a rich manufacturing country, abounding with coal and lime.

The farm houses and offices are commodious, and in complete order.

There is likewise an extensive QUARRY of excellent FREE STONE upon the lands, and some promising appearances of coal and lime.

The tenants are valued and nearly exhausted. The lands hold partly of the Crown, and partly of a subject for payment of a trifling feu duty. They are very moderately valued in the cess books.

From a late measurement and report by Thomas Johnstone, land surveyor, the whole property is estimated at 335l. 10s. 7d. Sterling of yearly rent.

LOT II. All and whole the LANDS of Kingarth, Glaslarich, Balamanoeh, Teynashee, and Teynacroy, with the pertinents, lying in the parish of Comrie and shire of Perth.

These lands consist in whole of 545 acres, whereof 140 are arable, of a sharp dry loam or gravel; there are 80 acres of natural grass and meadow ground, 315 of hill pasture, and about 10 acres of natural wood and planting. They are situated in a beautiful and romantic country, abounding with game of all kinds, upon the south banks of the river Lednaig, within 7 English miles of Crieff, and one mile of Comrie.

The lands of Kingarth, containing 173 acres, have been under pasture for the last seven or eight years; they are out of lease, and in good condition for being broken up for tillage.—The other lands are under an improving lease, whereof nine years are to run.

The present rent of the whole is only about 110l. yearly, but a considerable rise may be depended upon. A good part of the lands has been newly inclosed and sub-divided, and some thriving plantations have been lately made.

These lands hold feu of the Crown, and the valued rent is about 200l. Scots.

The title deeds, articles of roup, and plans of the lands are in the hands of Mr James Drummond, W. S. Edinburgh, to whom, or to Mr William Lindsay, writer, Glasgow, application may be made as to further particulars, or for treating by private bargain.

MAY 14.

No farther intelligence has yet been received that can lead to any certain knowledge of the destination of the French fleet.

From a large convoy of victuallers having, it is reported, got into Brest a week or ten days before the fleet sailed, and the seamen thereof having received three months pay in advance, many people here begin to think, that first the Red Sea, and then the East Indies is their destination.

The Archduke and General Suwarrow are thrown completely into the shade by Lord Bridport and the Brest fleet. Nobody now thinks of the campaign on the Continent.

We this morning received a letter from an officer on board the British fleet cruising off the Texel, dated on the 8th inst. by which we learn, that on the morning of that day the Director, of 64 guns, had stood close in to reconnoitre the Dutch force, and found ten fail of the line, apparently ready for sea.

On the 6th inst. Admiral Dickson joined with the rest of the north sea fleet, and his force was then equal to that of the enemy.

This morning arrived a mail from Halifax, brought to Falmouth by the Lady Harriott packet, in twenty-five days.

The Hamburg mail due on Sunday has not arrived. The lately deceased King of Bornou, which is the capital of a large empire, forming one of the central powers of Africa, had 500 wives, and 350 children, of whom 300 were males.

NAUTICAL INTELLIGENCE.

It is said, that the mission of D'Ossuna to Paris had for its object to complain to the Directory of the vexations exercised in Spain under the name of the French Government; that the Directory, in its turn, complained of the unaccountable inactivity of the Spanish fleet lying in their ports; that the result of the dispute was, that Spain should give up twenty ships of the line to France, if the latter would go to fetch them; that it was with this view that officers and sailors intended to be mixed with the crews of those ships had been embarked at Brest; and that the Minister Bruix took the command of the French fleet, in order to organize the additional squadron of Cadiz.

PORTSMOUTH—May 13.

Yesterday morning arrived his Majesty's ship Cambrian at Spithead, having her masts, &c. much crippled by lightning. She left Lord Bridport's fleet on the coast of Ireland, on Wednesday last, consisting of 21 fail of the line and 10 frigates. When the Cambrian left his Lordship, he had not been joined by either the Royal Sovereign or Agincourt, nor had he gained the smallest intelligence of the enemy, or their destination, though he had been off Bellisle. The dispatches taken by his Lordship were most assuredly intended to deceive. The fleet is in high health, discipline, and spirits. The Endymion and Andromache, with sealed orders, have been stopped by the telegraph.

PLYMOUTH—May 12.

Arrived the Triton frigate, Captain J. Gore, from a cruise: She reconnoitred the outer road of Brest on Friday last, at which time nothing remained there but two frigates, in a state of ordinary: Has seen nothing of the Channel fleet. Sailed the Correspondence between Commodore TROWBRIDGE and General MACDONALD.

"SIR, CULLEDEN, off Naples, April 5.

"Having learned that the French privateer, the Championnet, a prize belonging to one of his Majesty's vessels under my command, has been driven by bad weather into the port of Castellamare, and having, within a little more than a month, released nearly 4000 French prisoners, I hope that your Excellency will set at liberty the midshipman and seven English seamen, now in your power. It is necessary for me further to inform your Excellency, that on the 30th ult. I sent a cartel from Palermo to Nico with 300 French prisoners. It is with real concern I hear, that the effects of our Minister, Sir Wm. Hamilton, are detained in his house at Naples. You, Sir, both as an officer and soldier, ought to know that the property of Ambassadors has never been considered as falling within the right of conquest, and I am convinced that what has taken place, in that respect, has happened without your knowledge. An Ambassador is obliged to follow the Court to which he has been sent. I beg you to reflect on our conduct towards your Consul and merchants at Leghorn, when we took possession of that port. I am also to acquaint you, that I captured at the heights of Alexandria, a Monsieur Beauchamp, dressed in the Turkish fashion, on his way to Constantinople as a spy, with secret instructions, and about 600l. concealed about him, which I restored to him, from the conviction that it is the duty of all officers to alleviate the miseries of war, which should as little as possible affect individuals, and to treat prisoners with every proper attention. I wish I had it in my power to say, that our officers, soldiers, or sailors, have been treated in that way by the Directory. I trust, Sir, after this explanation, that you will make no difficulty of giving up the above-mentioned midshipman and seamen to my officer, who is charged with the delivery of this letter, and that you will also put into his hands all the English whom you may have in your power. I shall take care to have their names registered, and the officer will give you a receipt for the men whom you shall send back to me.

"I have the honour to be, with great respect,
"Your very humble and obedient servant,
"T. TROWBRIDGE."

ANSWER.

"SIR, The crew of the small vessel which was forced into Castellamare by bad weather, are still performing quarantine, but as soon as the Officer for health shall declare there is no danger in opening the communication with them, I shall give the necessary orders for sending them on board your squadron. Your officer, who brought your letter, has been enabled to satisfy himself that your Minister has left nothing here but the walls of his house.—At least it was found in that state on the conquest of Naples. You, Sir, who are so well versed in the rights of nations, should put the Ex-King of Naples in mind of them, who now keeps in chains, without any reason or motive, the Vice-Consul of the French Republic. I beg, Sir, you will be satisfied that your prisoners are treated with all the attention and care which misfortune and humanity prescribe. I wish I had it in my power to say as much in favour of the agents of your Government, and of you in particular. I am, Sir, with respect, &c.

"MACDONALD."

The Commander in Chief MACDONALD to M. ACTON, Minister of his Neapolitan Ex-Majesty.

"I learn, Sir, with the greatest surprise and the most lively indignation, that the ci-devant King of Naples exercises his impotent vengeance against Citizen Ribaud, Vice-Consul of the French Republic at Messina, and that he has loaded him with chains, and thrown him into a dungeon. Such extraordinary conduct cannot fail to provoke reprisals, and it is on your brother they have fallen. I am astonished, Sir, that humanity and the ties of blood have not spoken in favour of him. I propose, Sir, however to exchange him for our estimable fellow-Citizen Ribaud.

"MACDONALD, Commander in Chief"

ETON MONTEM.

The celebration of which took place this day, is a custom, time immemorial, performed by the scholars of Eton School, near Windsor, upon Whit Tuesday, in every third year.

It commences by a number of the senior boys taking post upon the bridges, or other leading places of all the avenues around Windsor and Eton, soon after the dawn of the day. They are fancifully dressed, and called salt-bearers, and demand salt, i. e. a contribution from every passenger, and will take no denial. When the salt is received, they deliver a printed paper, with this motto: Pro more et monte—1799—Vivant Rex et Regina. These youth thus continue collecting till about the close of the procession at Eton, which is usually three o'clock in the afternoon.

The procession commences about twelve, and consists of the Queen's and other bands of music, several standards borne by different students, all the Etonian boys two and two, dressed in officers uniforms, those of the King's foundation wearing blue, the others scarlet, swords, &c. then follow—

The Grand Standard Bearer.
The Captain or Head Boy of Eton School.
HIS MAJESTY,
Attended by the PRINCE OF WALES, and the other Branches of the ROYAL FAMILY, on horseback, with their Suite.
THE QUEEN AND PRINCESSES
In coaches, attended with their Suite.
Band of Music, followed by a great concourse of the Nobility and Gentry in their carriages and on horseback.

The procession commences in the Great Square at Eton, and proceeds through Eton to Slough, and round to Salt Hill, where the boys all pass the King and Queen in review, and ascend the Montem. Here an oration is delivered, and the Grand Standard is displayed with grace and activity by the Standard-bearer.

The donation of the King and Queen, or, as it is called, the Royal Salt, is always fifty guineas, all the other Princes and Princesses thirty guineas each.

As soon as this ceremony is performed, the Royal Family return to Windsor; and the boys are all sumptuously entertained at the tavern at Salt Hill.

About six in the evening all the boys return in the order of procession, and, marching round the Great Square at Eton, are dismissed. The Captain then pays his respects to the Royal Family, at the Queen's Lodge, Windsor, previous to his departure for King's College, Cambridge, to defray which expence the produce of the Montem is presented to him, sometimes amounting to more than a thousand pounds.

The day concludes by a brilliant promenade of beauty, rank, and fashion on Windsor terrace, enlivened by the performance of several bands of music.

LONDON—MAY 15.

SUN-OFFICE—HALF PAST ONE O'CLOCK, P. M.

We have just received our private letters by the mail. By these we have an account of the taking of Breda by the Austrians, and 1000 French made prisoners.—The siege of Pefchiera was carrying on with every prospect of success.

The Chancellor has been lately so much injured by severe fits of the gout, that it is said he has some thoughts of resigning his office.

Lord Duncan is in town, and we are happy in being able to say in very good health. His Lordship rehoists his flag, as soon as his fleet returns to Yarmouth Roads.

The Times says, "Lord Augustus Fitzroy is to be tried at Portsmouth by a Court Martial, on some charges preferred by the East India Company respecting conveyance."

Ministers have certain information that the Dutch fleet is nearly ready for sea. It is positively said that, notwithstanding the enormous losses they have sustained, twenty ships are completely ready, except that they are badly manned. Ten ships of the line were actually discovered on the 8th inst. by the Director of 64 guns, lying in the Texel apparently ready for sea; and private letters say that six more will very soon be equipped and ready to join them. Here is another source of anxiety arising from the escape of the French, since our ignorance of their destination makes it necessary to dispatch more ships than would have been necessary to beat them in the first instance, that none of our fleets may be deficient. Admiral Dickson has ten sail now collected on his station to watch the Dutch fleet, and we trust he will be still further reinforced.

We should be inclined to form an extraordinary idea of the administration of justice in America, from the accounts that reach this country.—The notorious Lyon having been convicted of a libel on the Government of the United States, has set on foot a public lottery, the profits arising from which are to be appropriated to discharging the fine imposed upon him for the offence.

Lord Somerville, President of the Bath Society for the encouragement of arts, &c. desired the attention of the last meeting to the extreme high price of Spanish wool; in consequence of which the meeting recommended to the most considerable breeders an immediate care in the selection for breeding the largest possible number of the finest woolled young rams and ewes; a measure that may tend to reduce the price of the Spanish, or at least to provide a good substitute for it.

THE HAMBURG MAIL.

VIENNA—APRIL 27.

A supplement to our Court Gazette of yesterday contains the following intelligence:

Advices have been received from General Melas of the date 15th inst. that he had the day before passed the Mincio with his whole army, and encamped near Campagnolo and Monte Oliverano; the advanced posts extended to Marcara on the Oglio, and Monte Chiaro on the Chiefa.

The enemy with his right wing retreated over the Oglio, and with his left over the Chiefa. General Vukalovich had already taken possession of Salo, by which he maintained a communication with the army.

On the 18th the army was encamped between Capriano and Castelfo, and Mantua was already left to itself by the enemy. The army inclosed the city at some distance, but the patrols advance almost to the gates. The taking of Pefchiera will enable us to form a closer blockade of Mantua.

In the mean time the enemy retreated over the Oglio with his left wing likewise; and our advanced parties found the first detachment of this left wing before Breda, into which town it withdrew on their approach, and shut the gates. A feeble advanced guard of the enemy's right wing was found in Ponte Rico, which, however, did not wait an attack.

At Casal Maggiore a transport of 36 pontoons was taken from the enemy, and five officers and eight advanced parties even entered Cremona, where they learned that there were only 400 French in Pizzighetone, Adda, and that its head-quarters were at Lod. A detachment of our flotilla from Venice has anchored at the mouth of the Piave, taken a number of prisoners, and retaken several Austrian ships that had fallen into the hands of the enemy.

The part of our left wing which remained at Padua, made prisoners at Lago Scuro, 6 officers and 100 common men, and took 15 brass cannon out of the city, that lay there, and 200 pieces of iron cannon ammunition, that lay on the shore, and which have been sent to Venice. The peasants, who have taken up arms, Gen. Klenau, attacked a Cisalpine detachment, provided with artillery, at Mirandola, and took prisoners.

The Russian Field-Marshal Count Suwarrow has taken the command in chief of the combined Russian and Italian army.

"The first Lieutenant Gavenda, in his expedition besides the above-mentioned pontoons, has taken large merchant ships; and at Cremona, a piece of artillery, several chests with new clothing, a great quantity of ammunition, a number of gun-carriages, and prisoners.

"At Castlenovo, he took a park of artillery of 12 pieces of cannon and four mortars, with a prodigious quantity of ammunition, and a number of prisoners."

Advices from the Archduke Charles, at Speyer, confirm the taking of the town of Eggenau, on the right bank of the Rhine, which was effected on the 17th by the Prince of Schwartzberg, with a force of only 14 men.

Yesterday evening our Government received patches from Field-Marshal Suwarrow, which he advises that Field-Marshal Kaim had gained a considerable advantage over the French on the bank of the Adda, in the neighbourhood of Cremona. Field-Marshal Suwarrow had resolved continually to follow the enemy, at the head of 50,000 men, till he brought them to a battle. He had detached a corps into Ferrarese, to support the infirreccion of the people, while another strong corps blockaded Mantua.

The corps of the Prince of Conde has already arrived at the frontiers of Austrian Silesia. His Imperial Majesty has added to this corps a fine regiment of cavalry of 1500 men. Four numerous Russian lums will follow the corps of the Prince of Conde, which troops are destined to reinforce the army on Rhine.

Another Russian corps, destined for Italy, the division of which entered East Galicia on the instant, consists in the whole, of 10,600 men, and 500 horses.

TRIESTE—APRIL 21.

An Austrian courier extraordinary has brought the victorious Italian army a present of 100,000 l. several crosses of the order of Theresa, and three standards, worked by the Empress, to be distributed among those regiments which have most signified the felices.

On the 19th, the fourth and last column of the Russian auxiliary corps arrived at Verona.

ROVERETO—APRIL 23.

The Austrian troops continue to prosecute their operations, and penetrate still farther into the Cisalpine territory; three days since their head quarters were Montecchiato, and to-day they are at Cremona. The French head quarters are at Milan. Several places the Cisalpine territory have been declared in a state of siege. Mantua is blockaded in form. Two hundred men who came out to reconnoitre, were taken prisoners. The garrison of Pefchiera has offered to evacuate that town, on condition they might be allowed to retire to Milan; but this has been refused. Count Kray has marched with 30,000 men on a secret expedition.

The peasants of eighteen places in the Mantua are in infirreccion against the French. They are 1400 in number, and have applied to the Austrians for 460 cavalry and 600 infantry have been sent to and they have taken Mirandola.

An infirreccion has likewise broken out in the Montese. At Vicevano, Tortona, and Navano, are in motion. The country of Ferrara is under arms, and the inhabitants voluntarily join the Austrians. An infirreccion has likewise taken place in the Roman territories.

APRIL 23.

It is confirmed, that Generals Kaim and Hohenhausen, before the taking of Cremona, defeated a corps of French, and took several pieces of artillery, some ammunition waggons, and 200 prisoners. On the 18th the Austrian head-quarters were at Montecchiato; the right wing supported by St. Marco, and the left by St. Martino di Cremona. On the 19th and 20th, the whole army advanced by Castagnedolo and Nave; the advanced posts of the left wing extended to Lod. The French head-quarters are at Milan. Mantua is now shut in on all sides.

On the 15th, the Austrians took possession of Salo and the whole Western Bank of the Lake of Garda. It is said Suwarrow has sent General Kray, with a strong corps on a secret expedition, as some conjecture against Florence or Genoa, where Russian troops are landed, and co-operate with them. The corps of General Vukalovich will be reinforced by several thousand men, in order to penetrate into the Valtellina, and come on the rear of the French in the Grisons.

APRIL 24.

The Austrian corps which has advanced by Ron di Legno and Valcamonica, is destined against Bergamo. Our army continually advances, and is already in possession of Parma, Lodi, and Pizzighetone.

The battle fought on the 20th by Gen. Kaim, between Cremona and Refcoverte, was very severe, and a great number of men were killed on both sides—the consequences were likewise important.

The French are now cut off from the division on the other side of the Po, in the Ferrarese. The operations of the Austrians will now be principally directed against Milan. The French army has divided itself, and a large body of troops has been detached to the frontiers of Piedmont, to secure the strong places there. Gen. Moreau, it is said, is wounded; but this requires confirmation. The Russians are marching against Pizzighetone. They have already cut in pieces several French advanced posts, and will make terrible reprisals should the French set any places on fire.

36 pontooners and eight...
One of our Gazettes, under the head Aufburgh, April 28, contains the following article:
Accounts have been received here, that Field Marshal Suwarrow having summoned Peshiera to surrender, and received a refusal, immediately commenced the assault, and after a furious conflict of seven hours, made himself master of the place, and cut in pieces all he found under arms. (No date is given.)
According to the latest letters from Italy, another severe action took place on the 20th between the French and Austrians near Cremona, in which General Kaim repulsed the Republicans, and took from them several pieces of artillery, and some ammunition waggons. The Austrians have likewise taken two French military chests, with other effects and warlike stores.

He received 40 coups de sabre, and is wounded in 13 places, but not one of his wounds is mortal. We arrived almost dead at one o'clock after midnight. He made his escape while the banditti were engaged in pursuing the persons in the other carriages. It was at thirty paces from Rastadt that this horrible transaction was committed. Those who were to have escorted them became their assassins!

EDINBURGH—MAY 18.
The Hamburg mail due on Sunday arrived on Wednesday.
The Vienna Court Gazette of the 27th contains an account of the further successes of the Austrian arms in Italy. The Austrian army was on the 18th encamped between Capriano and Caffelo, and Mantua was already left to itself by the enemy. One of the advanced guard had entered Cremona, and had learnt that there were only 400 French in Pizzighetta.
General Kaim is stated in a letter from Vienna of the 27th, to have gained another considerable advantage over the French on the banks of the Adia, in the neighbourhood of Cremona. This intelligence is confirmed from several quarters.
An article from Roveredo of the 22d states, that Mantua was blockaded in form, and that the garrison of Peshiera had offered immediately to evacuate the place, on condition of their being permitted to retire to Milan. According to letters from Aufburgh of the 28th, Gen. Suwarrow had made himself master of Peshiera, and had put the garrison to the sword; but the date of this event is not given.
The peasants were in a formidable state of insurrection against the French in several parts of Italy.
For further particulars by the mail see the foregoing extracts.
Still we are without authentic information as to the destination of the fleet. The general opinion is, that they are for Cadiz to join the Spaniards, as formerly stated, and afterwards to go upon a joint expedition of importance.
A postscript to a letter from Cadiz, received by a mercantile house in London, dated the 12th ult., and which was communicated to Ministers on Sunday last, runs as follows:—"I stop my letter to inform you that an express is just arrived from the Court, which has put the fleet all in motion. Orders have been given for equipping every ship that is fit for sea with all possible dispatch. An embargo is laid on the sailing of all vessels above 100 tons; and the report is, that the French fleet from Brest may be expected here immediately."
Lord BRIDPORT is now on the coast of Ireland.—After having visited that coast he stretched away for the French coast in hopes of meeting the enemy, but missing them there, he returned to his present station.
This day we have Dublin papers to the 14th instant, but they contain no intelligence worth retelling.
A letter from an Officer of high rank in Ireland, to his friend in Edinburgh, says—"We are anxiously waiting for intelligence respecting the French fleet now at sea; should they venture to land here, I trust they will meet with a warm reception.—The army in this kingdom was never in such excellent order and readiness as at this time."

COURT MARTIAL.
Copy of a Letter from his ROYAL HIGHNESS FIELD MARSHAL THE COMMANDER IN CHIEF, to the Right Honourable Lieutenant-General SIR RALPH ABERCROMBY, K. B. &c.
SIR,
Dated Horse Guards, 3d May, 1799.
I HAVE attentively perused the proceedings transmitted by you of a General Court-Martial, held by your order in Edinburgh, for the trials of Colonel Sir GEORGE THOMAS and Lieutenant-Colonel TEESDALE, of the Suffolk fencible cavalry, on certain charges preferred against them by Major Worthington of that corps, when the charges appeared to me of so serious a nature, and the decisions of the Court so extraordinary, that I have felt it incumbent upon me to submit the proceedings, with my sentiments on the whole, to his MAJESTY, and I am now to communicate to you his MAJESTY'S pleasure upon the same.
His MAJESTY commands me to say, that from the evidence produced before the Court, he should have looked for a different decision from that which has taken place.
The charges, preferred against Colonel Sir GEORGE THOMAS, more especially the first of them, are somewhat loosely expressed, but the spirit of the first charge as explained by the evidence, namely, limiting the person employed to purchase all the horses wanted for the augmentation as well for the remount of the regiment to a sum inferior to the price allowed by Government, and out of which limited price the person so employed was to have whatever profit might accrue to him by purchasing the horses at a rate full inferior to that, gives a very different complexion to the business, and, in his MAJESTY'S opinion, it ought to have been treated in a more serious manner by Sir GEORGE THOMAS in his answer, and also deserved more serious notice from the Court than the censure which they thought proper to award.
Upon the second article of charge, which in substance is, that Colonel Sir GEORGE THOMAS availed himself of the difference between the price allowed by Government, and that inferior price to which he limited the purchase of the horses to be provided by Lieutenant FAULDER, his MAJESTY noticed, that the Court Martial has "in the fullest and most honourable manner acquitted him," aligning as the ground on which they founded that acquittal, that the Colonel "had not given any order or direction for any sum or sums whatsoever, arising from any savings, that might have accrued from the purchase of horses, to be credited to his account, nor had ordered, paid, or approved of any account, in which any such balance so credited was stated." Whereas his MAJESTY can by no means consider the correspondence which has been laid before the Court, namely, the letter from Sir GEORGE THOMAS, in which he directs Lieutenant FAULDER to purchase horses for the augmentation, a second of the 25th November 1798 on the same subject, and a third of the 24th December 1798, with Lieutenant FAULDER'S answers, dated the 31st January and 13th February 1799, with Sir GEORGE THOMAS'S reply of the 18th of the month last mentioned, as warranting a full and honourable acquittal; on the contrary, the circumstances stated in, or to be collected from those letters, carry with them strong marks of Sir GEORGE THOMAS'S intention to avail himself of the profit derived from that transaction.
It does not indeed appear from this correspondence, that any order or direction was given, that any sum or sums accruing from the savings, should be credited to Sir GEORGE THOMAS, or that any stated account, which included the credit, was settled or directly approved by him, yet it is manifest, that Lieutenant FAULDER understood that such savings was to be placed to the credit of Sir GEORGE THOMAS, that in one letter he stated the amount, and added, that it would be credited to him in account, and in a subsequent letter informed him, that it was credited to him in account, to which last mentioned letter, Sir GEORGE THOMAS answered in the letter of the 18th February, that he was glad that the horses had been completed, without saying a word that implied a disapprobation or disclaimer of the credit given to him as above stated in account.
The KING commands me to say, that he considers Colonel Sir GEORGE THOMAS'S conduct, as it appeared in evidence before the Court, to have been so improper, and so unwarrantable in every view, that if the letters above alluded to had been produced and authenticated before a Court Martial was convened, his MAJESTY would not have hesitated in removing Sir GEORGE THOMAS from the command of the Suffolk regiment of fencible cavalry; and his MAJESTY laments, that the General Court Martial which tried him, should have considered a transaction so injurious to the public, and so destructive in its tendency to the service at large, as deserving no greater animadversion and check than the censure aforementioned.
In regard to the charges preferred against Lieutenant Colonel TEESDALE, his MAJESTY is of opinion, that the Court may possibly have been warranted in not deeming Lieutenant Colonel TEESDALE guilty of a criminal connivance at the irregularity practised by Colonel Sir GEORGE THOMAS, but as it is admitted, that he was informed of it, there seems not to have been foundation for honourable acquittal upon that point.
With respect to the defence set up by Lieut. Colonel TEESDALE to the 3d charge, "that he did not consider himself as vouching the truth of the Paymaster's disbursements, but as a witness to the fact of the Paymaster having made oath as to the correctness of them," his MAJESTY is pleased to pronounce against the admissibility of such an opinion, as repugnant to the principles that should have actuated Lieutenant Colonel TEESDALE, in his situation of Commanding Officer of a regiment, and as being in direct opposition to the very words of the regulation, which requires the Commanding Officer and Adjutant of a regiment, to certify upon their word of honour as officers and gentlemen, that they have carefully examined the particulars of the statements and that to the best of their knowledge, information, and belief, they have found them to be truly and justly stated, as to names, rates, times, and payments.
And although Lieutenant Colonel TEESDALE appears to have been most justly acquitted of the 4th charge, namely, "having offered to associate himself with Lieutenant FAULDER, in furnishing a supply of horses for the augmentation," the fact not having been supported, his MAJESTY does not see ground for an honourable acquittal, in as much as Lieutenant Colonel TEESDALE had himself applied to Sir GEORGE THOMAS for such contract.
In consequence of the circumstances which are the subject of this letter, his MAJESTY is pleased to order, that in the future remounts of the Suffolk regiment of fencible cavalry, no horse shall be purchased by Colonel

Sir GEORGE THOMAS, Lieutenant Colonel TEESDALE, or any officer employed by them, but that such horses as may, from time to time, be wanted for the regiment, shall be purchased by such officer as you shall think proper to select for that duty; and it having been argued in the course of the trial by Lieutenant Colonel TEESDALE, that a Commanding Officer, who signs his name, as a witness to an affidavit made by a Paymaster, is not in any degree responsible for the contents, and that no blame is imputable to him, if the oath be ever so false, his MAJESTY commands me to express his great surprise, at such a sentiment having been entertained by an officer filling the situation in which Lieutenant Colonel TEESDALE is placed in the Suffolk fencible cavalry, and is pleased to direct, that you do communicate in General Orders, to the troops under your command, that the Commanding Officer of a regiment and the Adjutant, are to consider themselves responsible to the best of their knowledge and belief, after having made the examination required by his MAJESTY'S regulation, for the correctness of all regimental statements to which they are required to certify, and that they are expected to read, or hear read to them, the contents of such affidavits, before they sign their names thereto as witnesses, which orders will also be promulgated to the army at large.
I am to desire that you will also make known in General Orders to the troops in North Britain, these his MAJESTY'S sentiments on the proceedings of the General Court Martial in question. I am, Sir, your's

Monday night, the quarters of some carriers in Candlemaker-row, were attempted to be broke into, but the thieves were interrupted by a large dog.
Thursday night a grocer's shop at the fourth east corner of the College was broken into. The depredators got very little cash among their booty, but they seem to have been deliberate in their procedure, as it appears they forced open first a window shutter in the funk area, then two doors to the lower and upper apartments of the shop, and after obtaining access, they kindled a good fire and regaled themselves with liquor, &c.
Between last night and this morning, the Printing-office of the Edinburgh Evening Courant was broken open, but fortunately the depredators got very little booty.
Last night in the Grass Market, as two gentlemen were returning home about 11 o'clock, they were alarmed by a noise they heard at a little distance, which, upon making up to, they found had been occasioned by an attempt to break into a grocery shop. The iron bars of one of the windows were forced out, the shutters taken down and two panes of glass entirely out. The villains had made their escape, but fortunately had not time to enter the shop or take any thing away.
Although the two gentlemen were detained about 15 or 20 minutes at the place, no watchman could be found during that time.
Monday, arrived in Leith Roads, a Danish brig from Mandale in Norway; by which vessel came a part of the famen and passengers that were on board some of the ships lately captured in the North Sea. The master reports, that he had a passage of four days; and when he left Mandale, there were three luggers and a cutter privateer lying there, and a number of other French privateers in the different harbours in Norway.
Thursday, sailed from Leith Roads, the Prince William armed ship, the Myx gun-boat, and the Leith tender, with four transports with troops for Guernsey.
A correspondent observes, that the bill now in Parliament for enlarging and improving the harbour of Leith, enacts, that vessels loaded with coals sold in retail to the inhabitants of Leith, are to be exempted from payment of certain rates and duties therein mentioned.—Query, Ought not the same exemption to be extended to the inhabitants of Edinburgh?
BELFAST—May 14.
ROBERT McCLERY was taken from this town early on Saturday last to the Moat, near Ballymena, and executed there, and his head severed from his body, and placed on a spike on the market-house. He was found guilty by Court Martial of aiding and assisting in the murder of ROBERT DAVIDSON, at Ballymena, on the 8th June last, during the time the rebels had possession of that town. This culprit was 59 years of age. The sentence of hanging and beheading was performed by two persons now in custody on charges of a similar nature.
On Friday, a Coroner's inquest sat at Ballymena on the body of a farmer of the name of ANDREW SWAN, and brought in their verdict murder, by persons unknown. This unhappy man was, on the 24th April, dragged out of his house by some villains, and tied to a tree, where he was so unmercifully whipped that he languished from that day, and since died. In consequence of his giving testimony, two persons are now in custody.
CORK—May 9.
Yesterday, the 41st regiment marched hence for Limerick.
An express arrived this day from Lord BANTRY to General LAKE, stating the arrival of his Majesty's sloop Kangaroo at Bantry, having left Lord BRIDPORT, with twenty one sail of the line and fifteen frigates, off Cape Clear, all well.
CORK—May 11.
Last night his Majesty's ship Polyphemus, Captain LUMSDAINE, arrived at Core, having left Lord BRIDPORT off Cape Clear in such force as not to require the addition of one of the best disciplined and manned ships in the navy, which from the well known activity of her commander, the Polyphemus is acknowledged to be.

SOUND INTELLIGENCE.
Since our last we have had no arrivals of British vessels. The Sound still continues full of drift ice, which renders it impossible for the ships to attempt proceeding upwards. About 70 sail have taken shelter in Sandness harbour, amongst which are the six British formerly mentioned, as arrived from Hamburg, as far as we can learn.
By letters from St Petersburg we learn, that the exportation of all red wood timber or deals is prohibited, and the proportion of white wood deals allowed to be exported, is about 286 dozen to every 100 tons of iron.
By letters from Gotteburgh, dated the 27th ult., we learn that a French privateer of 14 guns and 50 men, was then in Schale haven, and one of the like force in Maystrand.

INCOME ACT.
Whereas doubts have arisen upon the effect of the schedule A, annexed to cap. 13, 32th Geo. III. commonly called the Income Act;—a case was laid before Lord Advocate and Mr Solicitor General, for their opinion, "If one-fourth of the income of the land-owners, arising from the lands in the occupation of tenants at rack-rent, was to be deducted from the gross rent of said lands?"—upon which case, Lord Advocate and Mr Solicitor, after considering the amended act, cap. 22, 39th Geo. III. which last act expressly repeals all the schedules in the first recited act, were decidedly of opinion, that the income of the land-owner shall be taken to be the full amount of the rent payable to him by the tenant, without any deduction of a one-fourth. But from which gross rent, the land-tax, feu-duty, minister's stipend, if payable by the land-owner, per centage on repairs, &c. and the actual expenses of collecting the rents, as more particularly mentioned in the schedules annexed to the said last act, shall fall to be deducted.
